New Time Saving Weblink for Android Mobile FlashLogic Programmer

Use an Android device to “Flash” your FlashLogic interface modules and Data Start systems. No need to be tied to the install bench or computer

HAUPPAUGE, NY – OCTOBER 1, 2014 -- VOXX Electronics Corp \(VEC\), a wholly-owned subsidiary of VOXX International Corp. (NASDAQ: VOXX), today announced its newest addition to the FlashLogic program, the FlashLogic Weblink Mobile programmer (FLWLMAN1) for Android programming. This Weblink Mobile cable gives installers the ability to “flash” FlashLogic interface modules and Data Start systems using Android devices without needing to be tied to the install bench or computer, saving valuable installation time. Weblink Mobile is compatible with all FlashLogic Data Start systems, the FLCAN, FLTB1 and FLDL1 produced after September 2013.

Tom Malone, president, VOXX Electronics Corporation, said “Our focus has always been on developing cutting edge products that also help our retail partners increase profits. We launched the FLWLMAN1 for iPhone earlier this year, and it has been a big success; this Android interface is the next logical step. These new flash programmers increase productivity, save on installation costs and deliver on our commitment to provide dealers with greatly reduced install times and lower inventory SKU’s.”

Flashlogic brings total flexibility to a dealer’s inventory as it allows a dealer to download the appropriate software to make it applicable to a wide range of vehicles without requiring vehicle specific SKUs. Simply by uploading the WEBLINK 5 updater from www.flashlogic.com you are ready to go.... no additional cost...no additional inventory.

The FLWLMAN1 is available now at Prestige, Pursuit, and Code Alarm Authorized Dealers. The App for Weblink Mobile is also available for Free in the GooglePlay Store.
