Jamo Unveils Four New Subwoofers

INDIANAPOLIS (October 14, 2014) — Jamo, a Klipsch Group, Inc. brand and European audio pioneer, today announces the launch of four new subwoofer models (J 10 SUB, J 12 SUB, J 110 SUB, and J 112 SUB). The brand's latest subwoofers offer stylish, versatile aesthetics in conjunction with the latest audio innovations.

"The new line of Jamo subwoofers serve as a rejuvenation of the brand through the balanced combination of an all-new contemporary design paired with a complete overhaul in performance," said Mark Casavant, senior vice president of global product development for Klipsch Group. "In order to have a cohesive subwoofer family that could supplement both the high volume, high value Jamo Studio line and the higher performance, premium Jamo Concert line, we've established two levels of core subwoofers."

All four products feature modern materials and core technologies to create unforgettable home theater and music listening experiences. High-gloss polymer veneer or wood grain vinyl finishes, and contemporary aesthetics allow the subwoofers to blend seamlessly into home décor. Removable cloth grilles add a rich, defined look that is acoustically transparent.

Each subwoofer's all-digital amplifier delivers clean, high-efficient power and accuracy in reproduction. Included line level and LFE RCA inputs ensure compatibility with old and new receivers. Additionally, a low-pass crossover and phase control helps listeners blend each subwoofer's low-frequency tones with other Jamo speakers and establish the ideal level of bass.
