

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

AUDIOVOX STRENGTHENS LOCATION-BASED SERVICES AND TELEMATICS TEAM WITH THE ADDITION OF INDUSTRY VETERAN, DAN MURPHY

HAUPPAUGE, NY — August 12, 2013 – Audiovox Electronics Corp., a wholly-owned subsidiary of VOXX International Corporation (NASDAQ: VOXX), today announced that Dan Murphy has joined the company as Vice President, Telematics Solution, responsible for overseeing the launch and success of all location-based services programs, including Car Connection™ and its derivatives in the Connected Lifestyle category.

Dan has been at the center of the Consumer Electronics industry working with Sony Electronics, XM Satellite Radio and most recently, an emerging start-up SUREAL SOS, which is a new consumer emergency response company in the telematics industry. While with XM Satellite Radio, Mr. Murphy held positions of varying responsibilities, most recently serving as Executive Vice President. He led teams responsible for the establishment of XM's business growth across the OEM, Automotive, Trucking, Boating, Hospitality, Retail, Consumer and Commercial markets and was also instrumental in business development and marketing initiatives, helping develop programs with MLB, NASCAR, NHL and various media companies and artists. Dan was also involved in product development initiatives, launching the first satellite radio product and helping establish XM's Telematics product line.

Audiovox Electronics Corp. has invested significant resources in the emerging telematics and location-based services category. The Company's Car Connection line is now available at retail and the Company recently launched Car Connection Fleet, targeted at fleet management. Car Connection Pro, the Company's 12-Volt independent line will launch in roughly thirty days followed by Car Link, the connected car product designed for car dealers with a complete CRM solution. In addition, the Company is currently in discussions with select insurance companies to round out its offering, developing user-based insurance modules.

Car Connection allows users to monitor, manage, maintain and control their vehicle's health, driving habits, and location. It delivers right to your smart phone reports on fuel savings and performance characteristics of your car; sets safety zones for young drivers or the elderly; and one of the safest features offered, you can now limit control of your phone while driving by blocking texting or phone use while the vehicle is in motion. In addition, you can add optional remote start; lock and unlock and security modules to the system and control them all through your smartphone.

"I am very excited to welcome Dan as a key member of the VOXX team," said Tom Malone, President of Audiovox Electronics Corp. "Dan is a highly respected and proven industry leader with over 30-years of executive experience, successfully developing businesses, products and brands. He knows our industry and customer base well and has extensive experience in the Telematics field, one of our key growth areas over the coming years as we believe we have a coveted solution in Car Connection. Dan's knowledge and expertise will be invaluable as we expand our telematics technology and we are pleased to have him onboard. His hiring demonstrates our commitment to be a market leader in this area and to our customers."
